

WHAT ACADEMICIANS ARE MISSING TODAY

Current Gaps in Academia-Industry Alignment

Many academicians face these challenges:

- Limited exposure to real-world ESG implementation
- Research confined to theory without industry application
- Difficulty accessing industry collaborations
- Fewer platforms to publish applied, practice-oriented work
- Difficulty in transitioning to industry careers

This conference directly addresses these gaps.

About the conference

Why This Conference Matters to Academicians

ESG is rapidly reshaping industry practices, policy decisions, and business strategy.

However, many academic discussions remain disconnected from real-world industry needs.

This conference bridges that gap.

This conference is designed to help academicians, researchers, and faculty members to:

- Understand how ESG operates in real industry environments
- Align academic knowledge with practical business requirements
- Translate teaching and research into industry-relevant expertise
- This is not just a conference—it is an academic-to-industry gateway.
